Remember the Electronic Voting Hubbub

boingboing / XENI JARDIN / 7:19 AM THU JAN 25, 2007

Diebold voting machine key copied from pic on Diebold site

BoingBoing reader Sejin says,

> In another stunning blow to the security and integrity of Diebold's electronic voting machines, someone has made a copy of the key which opens ALL Diebold e-voting machines from a picture on the company's own website. The working keys were confirmed by Princeton scientists, the same people who discovered that a simple virus hack on the Diebold machines could steal an election. Absolutely incredible and another example of how Diebold's e-voting machines pose a great threat to the electoral process.

permalink embed parent

[–] LockAndCode 35 points 3 years ago

The photo of the Diebold key isn't even the half of it. As any experienced locksmith (like me) will tell you if you show him that key, it's a C415A, which is one of the most ubiquitous small cam lock keys in the US. There are literally millions of keys cut to the National Cabinet Lock code C415A. It's effectively the default keying for all manufacturers' knock offs of the NCL cam lock.

So not only is Diebold stupid for exposing the bitting of the key (12343), they're doubly stupid for using a key that everyone in the country probably has in their junk drawer.

Yup. Same thing with the storage compartment locks on RV's and boats. They all use CH751.

permalink embed parent

[–] LockAndCode 3 points 3 years ago

Yep, that's probably the most common cam lock key for the Y11/L1054B keyway. All the storage bins in my service truck came keyed to CH751.

Second place for the Y11 keyway goes to PK625. Sentex telephone entry system out in front of your apartment building? Probably PK625.

Well for a mere $2000 you can rekey all the storage compartment locks, right?

i invested short money in a lock pick set. if you thinking of getting into the hobby and plan on getting more cabs its not a bad way to go plus youll learn a new skill.
otherwise just drill it only takes a few arcadejunkie 06-21-2009, 07:56 PM

i actually like to drill locks its one of the few times i get to destroy something on a game without feeling bad aboot it

TK_Monkey 06-21-2009, 08:00 PM

I got a cab and only found the key to one of the two (coin door/cash door) keys in it. Like an idiot, I had a locksmith redo the lock i didn't have the key for to match the key I had, only to find the other key a week after the rekeyed lock was back in there. Then managed to break they key off in the door 2 days later. tl;dr - just get a new lock for a couple bucks, life's way easier that way.

KenLayton 06-21-2009, 08:34 PM

Midway Ms. Pacman cabinets all had the back door keyed alike to Fort Lock key # 1355 (double bitted). If you have a 1355 key you can take off the back door, reach in and undo the control panel latches. Now lift off control panel and you can easily remove the coin door lock without damage.

Now you can either take that lock to a locksmith and have him make a key to fit that lock or you can go buy a lock at the hardware store.

Now you can either take that lock to a locksmith and have him make a key to fit that lock or you can go buy a lock at the hardware store.

And if you DON'T have a 1355 key (because it's hanging on the inside of the coin door on a hook), your back door is locked and it's not being held on by screws:

You can use a 1/4" nut driver to remove the hand scoop and reach in with a screwdriver to remove the cam from the back door.

Then pop the latches to the control panel as Ken said, as you'll probably have a shield blocking the lock in the coin door...

Ken, Perfect!! Just what I was looking for... Glad I didn't drill it.

mc300baud 06-21-2009, 09:20 PM

you can also order locks from Bob Roberts (along with lots of other good parts for repair,) and get them keyed alike. i think he carries only #641 so you always get locks that take the same key. while it's not nearly as cool as having a pegboard full of custom game-flyer key chains, it's pretty darn handy to need only one key for all your games.

Thomas 06-21-2009, 09:30 PM

Or you could watch this seller. Buy a few locks now and get it over with. You will need more locks I promise.

Great price too...

KenLayton 01-20-2009, 10:15 AM

Most Arachnid dart boards have all the cabinet locks keyed to National # C-415A except the coin door which is individual to that game or the operator. Most Rowe CD jukeboxes are keyed to National # C-092 and C-094. Valley/Dynamo pool tables are keyed alike (depending on age) on the side doors and end cleanout door, but never the cashbox door. Happ Controls and other amusement parts houses sell common coin-op keys.

Many coin operated equipment manufacturers like to standardize on one key/lock manufacturer and make most of their cabinet lock numbers the same for service persons.

Arachnid and Rowe like to use National Cabinet Lock.

Valley/Dynamo like to use Fort Lock.

Williams liked to use Fort Lock, but towards the end they switched to that gawdawful "HAWK" knockoff of a Fort Lock.

Midway used Fort Lock.

Seeburg used illinois Lock.

Sega/Gremlin used National Cabinet Lock.

Neo Geo used National Cabinet Lock nice, i'll have to try that. now, will the fort lock keys from my pac work in other games, or are they coded differently

flynn54321 01-20-2009, 11:31 AM

Hmmmmm....

I'm going to have to try my keys at that arcade store at the east town mall!

treborlicec 01-20-2009, 11:34 AM

That is cool. I've never tried my keys.

2341 slot key gives access to some information

By HOWARD STUTZ
LAS VEGAS REVIEW-JOURNAL

Common slot machine reset keys — identical to one that caused a Reno casino to be hit with a $1 million gaming fine — are easily found for sale on various Internet sites.

How simple?

The Las Vegas Review-Journal purchased two of the keys — often referred to as the 2341 slot machine reset/attendant key — from an eBay seller in Winona, Minn., for $12.44, including shipping and handling.

But was the transaction a waste of money?

The key is a common tool used by slot machine technicians to gather information or

Instructions:

1. Insert the wedge between the B pillar and the window at the rear of either front door.
   - Easier insertion can be achieved by spraying a lubricant on the wedge.
2. If you are using an air wedge, inflate it.
3. Insert the tool through the gap created by the wedge.
4. Manoeuvre the tool so that the tip contacts the front edge of the internal lock lever.
5. Move the tool towards the rear of the vehicle to unlock the door.

LOCK CHANGE / SECURING SERVICE REQUIREMENTS AND COST SCHEDULE

Windows and doors must be secured to prevent unauthorized entry and to protect against weather damage. Broken glass which could permit entry should be replaced, unless the opening is to be boarded. In some instances, temporary measures must be taken to protect the interior of the property from damage caused by leaking roofs. These temporary repairs in the form of spot patchwork or replacing loose shingles should be performed promptly. Mortgagees should document the temporary measures taken to protect the property.

Locks are to be changed on the main entry door only unless otherwise specified in the variations below. The main entry door lock must be a master lock as prescribed by the local HUD office as indicated in the variations below. All secondary entry doors must be secured. Secure only those doors which provide immediate access to the living area, attached garage, or basement areas. Doors must not be braced or nailed shut unless otherwise specified below or the lender will be held accountable for any damage caused by these practices. All windows and other openings should be properly secured. Garage doors and outbuildings must be secured with a padlock and hasp, and entrance gates to fences surrounding pools with a padlock and chain when no lock is present. Detached garage or storage areas with locks matching the main entry door shall be rekeyed to the same lock as the main entry door. Two keys to all locks must be sent to the local HUD office with Part A. Form-27011. Failure to conform with above lock installation instructions will result in disallowing that portion of the claim for reimbursement.

When applicable, unplug automatic garage door opener and secure garage doors. Garage doors should be left in such a condition as to allow for opening and closing without the use of the automatic garage door opener. Leave the remote key(s)/transmitter(s) in a kitchen counter drawer.

If the re-securing of a property becomes necessary, the mortgagee must obtain prior approval to expend the additional funds to re-secure the property.

Fees for securing or winterizing swimming pools are not included in the maximum allowable limit per property. Prior written approval from the local HUD office is required for securing or winterizing pools unless noted otherwise below.

District of Columbia	Since lock sets or padlocks are to be used on the main entry door only, lenders may use bracing to secure other doors leading to the exterior as needed. Specifically, bracing should be used only when exterior doors cannot be otherwise secured from the interior (i.e. existing lock is not functional). If you have questions in connection with when to employ bracing, contact the Property Disposition Branch of the local HUD office. Bracing - Cut a 2x4 inch brace board to fit between the interior door knob and a cleat board nailed into the floor at a 45 degree angle, as shown below. When resecuring properties is necessary because of vandalism, after the first securing, mortgagees must seek approval to expend additional funds to resecure the property. Swimming Pools: Replace any damaged or missing boards or sections of fence. Remove all trash from interior of pool. As necessary, build frame & cover pool with appropriate decking or wire mesh in accordance and in compliance with State & local codes. Mortgagees do not need prior approval to secure pools.
